CORNER STONE LAYING OF LUTHERAN CHURCH

New Structure On Washington Avenue To Be Beautiful One.

REV. LEECH PRESENT

Tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon at 3 o'clock the impressive services in the laying of the corner stone of the Christ Lutheran church of this city will take place. This congregation is not yet seven years old, and have worshiped in a hall on the third floor of the Savings and Trust company, during all that time, but so rapid has been their growth and development that they have been warranted in a building what promises to be one of the most substantial and best church buildings of our community.

The church is to be gothic in architecture, fashioned after the "old cathedral" style, having the first floor for Sunday school purposes, with entrance off Washington avenue. The auditorium will be on the second floor, having the entrance on Sixth street. The structure is to be built entirely of stone taken from the Bowman Quarry north of Charleroi, just six squares from the site of the church. The cut stone trimmings are of Indiana Limestone, quarried at Bloomington, Indiana. Charles W. Bolton and son of Philadelphia, Pa., are the architects, and the Smith Construction company of Morgantown, W. Va., are the contractors.

This congregation was organized Sept. 22, 1901, with 31 charter members; they have grown until now they number about 150 members. Less than a year ago a special effort was made in the securing of subscriptions for the erection of a new church, which resulted in a subscription list of $10,000.

Charleroi Wins From Grafton In The Tenth

By going an extra inning the Gherubs took yesterday's game from the Graftons by one run. Although taking a good lead at the opening of the game it was finally overcome. Mack was the heavier for the locals and held Grafton to seven hits. Cornelius for the visitors was touched up for twelve safe ones but by fast fielding the score was held down.

In the first inning Charleroi made two runs on hits by Cosgrove, Dunn and Dailey. But four hits were secured by Cornelius during the next six innings but in the eighth a single by Dunn and one for three sacks by Dailey sent a run over the pan. Mack allowed but two hits until the seventh inning. In this round two singles and an error by Toohy allowed one run and in the next round three hits were secured by Grafton which netted them two runs and tied up the game. Neither side could cross the gum in the ninth inning and Grafton could not cross in their half of the tenth. When George Dailey walked and Toohy laid one down, which put Dailey on second Heinz came to the rescue and by pounding one out for a single sent Dailey over with the winning run. Score:

FIRE AT SHIRE OAKS YESTERDAY

Fire at Shire Oaks yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, destroyed three dwelling houses owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad. All the houses were occupied, and the people had great difficulty in getting their household goods out and saving them. The loss is total, and will amount to about $3,000. The fire is said to have originated from oil used to start a blaze communicating to the timber from the chimney. The houses were located below the railroad, and some difficulty was experienced in looking after the tangle and stable of the Pittsburgh Coal company at that point.

Bench Warrant Issued For Pittsburgh Detective For Jury Fixing.

ARGUMENTS TO JURY

Washington, Pa., Aug. 29.—(Special to Mail.) The case of the Commonwealth against W. L. Lenhart of Brownsville went to the jury at 12:20 o'clock. The jury adjourned at 1 o'clock for lunch without having reached any decision. They will convene again at 2 o'clock. It is thought that they will either find the man guilty of conspiracy or disagree.

The arguments to the jury were made yesterday afternoon after the testimony for both the Commonwealth and the defense were made. A bench warrant was issued by the court yesterday for the arrest of W. J. Tanne, a Pittsburgh detective, on a charge of attempting to fix the jury.

"MERRY WIDOW" HOUSE BURNED TO GROUND

Alleged Disorderly Resort Of Fallowfield Township Suffers.

LOSS IS ABOUT $1,200

This morning a fire occurred on what is known as the "Merry Widow Farm" a short distance to the south of Charleroi, in a house belonging to John Nelson, of Fallowfield township. The loss will be about $1,200, the building being burned to the ground.

The fire is said to have started at about 4 o'clock this morning from an explosion in the gasoline stove. Nothing could be done to check the flames after they were discovered. There were four women in the house at the time, and they were awakened by the smell of smoke permeating through the rooms. They telephoned to Charleroi, but no alarm was sent in for the reason that the flames had already gained such headway that by the time hose connections could be made to the plug at Second street, the fire would have entirely destroyed the building, and the work would be useless.

The house is one that is said to have been used by disorderly purposes. Few of the belongings of the ladies were saved from the flames and the loss to them is considerable.

DOUGLAS WILL START TERM ON MONDAY

On Tuesday morning, September 1st, the Douglass Business college will open for the fall and winter term, with a full enrollment of pupils.

The rooms have been renovated throughout and now produce a much more beautiful appearance. A number of new typewriters have been added and still more will be put in. It is expected that the present season will be as successful if not more so than the past year.

There will be some change in the corps of instructors this year, although the superintendency will not change, Prof. M. Adams still having charge of the school. Prof. Smith, who last year was connected with the commercial department has returned from his vacation and will take up his duties. The change, however, will be in the shorthand department. Prof. Dorsey, the last year's incumbent having resigned. His successor will be Prof. Zella Franks, of Ohio, who is a capable teacher of shorthand and stenography. Several pupils will be sent from the high schools this year, and a large number of out of town students are enrolled.

CROWDS ATTRACTED BY THE OPENING

The store of McDermott's Creamery Produce Co., has assumed a festive appearance today, but nevertheless a business like bustle pervades. From two o'clock until five this afternoon, souvenirs are to be given ladies who visit them, and from 7 to 10 o'clock this evening as well. Crowds are filling the store this afternoon.

MR. ROSENBLOOM BACK HOME FROM SOMERSET

Does Not Care To Discuss Tragedy Of His Father.

INVESTIGATIONS MADE

Louis Rosenbloom, after being absent from the city for several days in the interests of the murder case, in which his father was the victim returned home last night. He states that he knows very little of the affair and will not converse of the matter to much extent. He does not state whether he suspects his brother Alexander of the murder or not, and will not answer questions.

After giving bail for their appearance at the December term of court Mrs. Bonnie Rosenbloom and Miss Eva Rosenbloom, widow and daughter respectively of the murdered man, left yesterday for Baltimore, from where they were brought to Somerset after breaking down and confessing that Alexander had told them he killed his father. Mrs. Rosenbloom and Eva were accompanied by William Rosenbloom of Piedmont, W. Va.

William will go to Camden to further identify the body supposed to be his father's. In addition, he will try to locate his brother, Alexander. William Rosenbloom is a detective with several year's experience. In 1898 he captured Milton Sheets, a murder suspect, who escaped from the Somerset jail.

MONONGAHELA BODY TO HOLD CAMPMEETING

COURT TO OPEN IN WESTMORELAND

Monday morning will witness the opening of August court in Westmoreland county. Criminal cases will be heard during the first two weeks, to be followed by three weeks of civil court. This means a five-week session. In the common pleas court about the number of 115 are listed for trial, and while many of these cases will be continued the whole of the three weeks will be necessary to hear and determine the merits of the cases ready for trial and the courts will be busily engaged in their position.

What the Cloak Hid

Punkutwney, Pa., Aug. 28.—At a masked ball at Jefferson Park last night Miss Marie Hembick danced part of the evening with a cloak covering her costume, but when a "Paul Jones" was started she cast the cloak aside and revealed a dainty pink silk Directoire gown, which in turn disclosed the most—well, everybody stopped.

Men were enthusiastic. Women left the floor and pretended to look out of windows. Miss Hembick and her partner continued the dance until Park Manager John Oates, of Charleroi told the couple to stop. So quickly did the news spread that the park was thronged in a few minutes.

While walking along the railroad track near Dunlevy this morning, William Cook, of Monessen, was struck by a passing freight and badly injured. The real cause of the accident is not known but it is supposed that Cook did not hear the train approaching and so failed to get out of the way. The accident occurred about 4 o'clock this morning, near the store at Dunlevy.

Cook is a mill-worker of Monessen and resides near Fourteenth street of that place. He is 28 years old and single. His left side was badly bruised and he sustained other minor injuries. He was taken to the Memorial Hospital at Monongahela, where it is thought that he will recover.

BOY, BALL, DOG, STONE, ARRESTED

A boy of the Tenth street district caused considerable of a racket last night through his desire to injure a dog that had run away with his ball. It happened that a stone which he threw, struck a foreigners house and the owner was thereby much angered. He choked the lad and was arrested. He will have a hearing tonight.

Where Explosives are Sold

The fire chief in a city or borough
where there are explosives sold by numerous dealers should be furnished
a list of each of the stores handling
them, and the men under him should have a knowledge of such places.
This is done in quite a number of cities and boroughs, but it is understood that the Charleroi volunteer firemen
have scant idea as to where the explosives in this place are sold, or stored, and if a fire should occur in a room which contained powder or other high explosive, the chances are that some of the brave defenders of property and home of this place would encroach too near and if the stuff exploded be sent into eternity in a twinkling. This is a danger which has been suggested by the firemen
themselves and which will in the near future no doubt be provided for by laws governing the report of dealers
in explosives to the proper officials,
and copies of the list furnished the firemen with which to familiarize themselves.

Tracks Kept Clean.

It may not be generally known, but
it is a fact that the Pennsylvania Railroad company's tracks on the Monongahela Division are cleaner now
from refuse of various kinds, paper,

etc., than for years. The police department of the division are making
the matter a specialty and a large number of arrests have been made,
while many persons who have been in the habit of dumping refuse on the railroad upon notification by the officers have cleaned up the waste, and stopped the practice of making the railroad property their dumping ground.

Treasury Department officials have recommended to the Senate Committee on Finance that in revising the tariff citizens returning from abroad
be permitted to bring $200 worth of personal baggage instead of $100 as now allowed by law. This would appeal to the traveler. But it does not go to the heart of the tariff question, which hinges on the levying of a Government tax in order to enable
special interests to raise their own
prices out of all reason.

The latest is a wail from a man
confined in the county jail, to the Washington Observer, because such elevated characters as thieves and robbers, and those who are confined for various other small (?) offenses of a similar nature, are compelled to associate with such low down people
as beer agents.

Sounds like another of the Observer's vain attempts to gain a place in the humorist's world.

The average boy is willing to bet
that the past three months are not nearly one-fourth of a year. The coming nine months will seem a good
bit more than three times as long any way.

Free Music Lessons.

Music lessons so simple that a child
of ordinary education should be able
to learn to play the piano will be published in the Sunday issue of the Pittsburg Dispatch, commencing September 13. This is a late treat for readers of The Dispatch and is a feature that will be greatly appreciated.
Just think of it, $12 worth of music
lessons free! They will appeal to old and young alike those who can play
as well as persons who cannot.
Music teachers will find many valuable suggestions. Parents whose children are not old enough to learn
to play now should keep the lessons
for them. Everyone should save the lessons. They are good at any time.
If you are not a reader of The Sunday Dispatch subscribe at once and get the best paper published. The music
lessons will be published every Sunday until the series is completed, commencing September 13. Don't miss them.

Affinities.

The epidemic of affinity notions
which have been hatched since the eccentric affair of Ferdinand Earle
and Julia Kuttner only goes to show
what loose ideas some people hold regarding marriage vows.

Fascination is the seed which germi-
nate the affinity idea, and it just needs
a little obstacle, such as one of the "soul-mates" being married and the fascination will grow to monstrous
proportions. It seems to be the nature of man to want most what he can't have. So he fools himself into the idea that he who also pines for a mate
in his indispensable affinity.

He breaks his neck, to say nothing
of his vows, to get a divorce from
the wife whom he once as convincingly
believed was his affinity, and if the court permits he and his newest heart's desire have the soul-mate idea tied in-
to a matrimonial knot.

But more often than not the fascination wears off with possession and
like the case of Earle the mate is beaten because she has not proven the
all-sufficing source of bliss he had contemplated. While there have been rare cases known to history, such as Wagner and the daughter of Liszt,
where soul-mating might be a fact,
the man and woman who keep their
emotions in the balance and who respect the vows they have made, are an evidence for greater character than
they who yield to ungoverned sires.

Have Been Swindled.

It is said that a number of women
of Greensburg have been recently
swindled by a man claiming to be the agent for "The Delineator," the popular fashion journal. He offered 22 pieces of china as a premium with
the subscription and took part pay on the subscription at once. The man,
magazine and china never showed up
and the publishers are offering a reward for his arrest. Every town has reliable magazine dealers or agents
who should be patronized and then there is no danger of a swindle.

CANONSBURG WOMAN SUES THE RAILROAD

Washington, Pa., Aug. 2. —Mrs.
Nola Malone, of Washington, has entered suit against the Washington
and Canonsburg Street Railway company to recover $20,000 damages for
the death of her husband, William W. Malone, who was killed by a car
on West Chestnut street on January 1, 1908. Malone was employed as a presser at Hazel No. 2 glass factory.
In the statement filed the accident is attributed to the negligence of the company in not equipping its cars
with proper brakes. It is also alleged that no warning was given the deceased, and that the car was running at an excessive rate of speed. The plaintiff states that she has suffered
the loss of a husband and the two children the loss of a father who was constantly earning and in receipt of good wages supporting and providing for his family and affording them a comfortable livelihood and maintainance.

Alex. Wargo, indicted by the grand jury for the present term of court on
the charge of involuntary manslaughter,
will enter a plea of nolle contende-
re this morning to that charge and receive his sentence. He was in court last evening to make his plea,
but court did not adjourn until almost 5 o'clock and nothing was done. The defendant is represented by Attorney
J. M. Patterson.

Wargo is one of those implicated in
the trouble that occurred at the home
of the Shumakers at Richhill some months ago, which resulted in the death of Alex. Shumaker.

John Shumaker, a brother of the dead
man, was tried at the May term of court and found not guilty of the murder of his brother. Wargo's testimony at that trial resulted in his arrest and indictment. During the trial of John Shumaker, Wargo admitted that he took part in the stabbing affray and that he had stabbed Alex. Shumaker three times. The penalty for involuntary manslaughter
is severe.

Railroad Expenditures.

Next to the agricultural interest
the railway interest, in point of receipts and disbursements, and the number of families directly, and indirectly independent upon it, is the most important interest in the country. The history of the country will show that the years of general prosperity, when labor was fully employed, when trade touched high-water
mark, and when new records were made in every line of business, were
the years when railway construction
was most active. If the prosperity of the last ten years could be closely
analyzed, and the purchases of iron
and steel, and cement and timber
products, and other supplies for railways could be calculated, and the disbursements to labor upon improvements and extensions could be known,
and their expenditures for cars and
locomotives similarly distributed, it would be seen that these in the aggregate were a very large factor in the country's activities. These improvements have been almost entirely stopped. Their curtailment had begun
before the panic; inability to float
securities and loss of earnings afterward made this policy imperative.
In view of the far-reaching influence
of such expenditures, contends a writer on financial topics, it is not too much to say that if the railways
today were spending as much money
as they have spent on an average
during the last three years, business
conditions the country over would be practically normal.

GOES LONG DISTANCE TO GET MARRIED

John Bissiere, a well known man of Monessen has gone to France for a visit, but it has come out that when he returns he will bring with him a bride. Mr. Bissiere was in France a short time ago and met the lady of
his choice, and the two became engaged, whence the present trip for the marriage.

Iron Jawed Man Their Trouble.

When Eleanor M. Cummings and her mother, Emma L. Cummings,
were called for sentence before Judge Cohen of Pittsburg, they said all their trouble was due to Christ Fiedler, a professional "iron-jawed man." They state he came to their Southside
home and told he intended to enter
business in Washington, Pa., where they were induced to go. There they had a disagreement. Fiedler alleged they took away some of his wearing
apparel and sold him a bottle of beer
while he was boarding with them.
Judge Cohen suspended sentence.

interests were owned by J. B. Rinehart,
Mrs. J. P. Rinehart and Miss
Elizabeth Bell of Waynesburg.
While the price is not made public it is understood to be $400 per acre, for the coal and surface. A sixth interest is still retained in the farm by Mrs. Wm. Denny of Washington.
The farm contains 10 1/4 acres.

The Hickman farm, which lies just west of the Bell farm, has also been sold at $400 per acre, for coal and surface. The farm contained 66 3/4
acres and was owned by H. C. Sayers, Sr., H. C. Sayers, Jr., of Waynes-
burg, and Arch Hickman. Both sales were negotiated by J. B. Rinehart.

A deed has just been filed by which
E. L. Denny of Waynesburg, conveys 48 1/4 acres of coal in Perry township, near Gump postoffice, to Mr.
Thompson, the consideration being $7,995.50. This is about $174 per acre.

A deed has also been filed dated August 1, by which T. S. Lacey et al., of Uniontown, convey 342 acres
in Washington township to Mr.
Thompson for a consideration of $38,955.75, which is $290 per acre.

Beer Keg Falls On Mans Head When He Trips

Mike Romick, a foreigner of Tenth street sustained a severe injury this morning by a beer keg which he was carrying home for his Saturday evening off, falling on his head when he tripped on the curb at the corner of Third street and McKean avenue.
The man was rendered unconscious and was picked up. Dr. McKay called and the wounds dressed. The man
was taken to his home.

Make Trips to Chartiers Valley.

In connection with the present agitation about the purity of the water supply in Pittsburg and surrounding boroughs there was considerable comment yesterday over the discovery that eight engineers in the employ of the State Department of Health have been working quietly on a mysterious mission.

State engineers have made a number
of trips to Morgantown, where a typhoid
epidemic is raging, and also to points
along the Chartiers Valley. Several trips have been made to the filtration
plant at Aspinwall, as well. The visitors are under the direct orders of State Commissioner Dixon, and are pledged to secrecy as to the nature of their work. The party is in charge of J. A. Wheelock, assistant engineer, and all are stopping at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Director Shepherd, while surprised
at the presence of the party in Pittsburg at this time, said he did not believe they were there to investigate
any city projects. In other quarters it was thought likely the delegation was looking into the problem
of sewage disposal in Allegheny
County, and this theory was strengthened by the presence of one member of the delegation at the Courthouse,
mapping many of the more important
streams of the county, which are now
badly polluted.

Among the Exchanges

Problem of Fire Protection

It is stated by fire insurance authorities that an average of 60 cents out of every $100 of premium received is used to pay insured fire loss. With these figures as a basis it will be possible, by reducing fire waste for
the public, to save on an average at once all uninsured value now burned
and in time 1 2/3 of all insured values
now burned.

A word now about the character of fire loss telling wherein it differs from
any of the other compared items.

Substantially all of these represent merely transfers of value; whereas,
fire loss is an absolute destruction of
wealth—the product of man's thought,
toil and self-denial. Who can doubt the propriety and wisdom of reducing
as far as possible the approximately proportionate life loss which accompanies it? It may be asked: Is this point whether this waste is unreasonably large, and capable of being reduced. A comparison with other countries of like civilization will supply a fair test. In round figures the per capita fire loss in the United States during the past year has been $3.00 as against $.33 in the principal European countries, including England, France, Germany and Italy, or nine times more fire waste and interruption of business (which insurance
cannot cover in the United States than in western Europe. There are certain conditions in these countries that operate to effect a lower fire loss than
would reasonably be possible here,
viz.: the larger use of non-combustible materials, due to the high cost
of wood, and better building codes in letter and practice; the height and
small areas employed in their city
construction; and finally, the intangible influence of their older civilization, which makes these people more careful of small savings in all their affairs and generally more cautious
than we have yet become. Allowing for these fundamental differences between the countries compared it is yet
apparent that the nine times larger fire loss in the United States than the principal western European countries, is outrageously and criminally
greater than it should be; and this condition must arise largely from the ignorance and carelessness of this country's people.—American Industries.

What to do With a Bad Temper.

Starve it. Give it nothing to feed
on. When something tempts you to grow angry, do not yield to the temptation. It may for a minute or two
be difficult to control yourself; but try it. Force yourself to do nothing,
to say nothing, and the rising temper
will be obliged to go down because it has nothing to hold it up. The person who can and does control the tongue, hand, heart, i. e. the face of great provocation, is a hero. The world may not hold him or her as such, but God does. The Bible says that he that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city.

What is gained by yielding to temper? For a moment there is a feeling of relief; but soon comes a sense
of sorrow and shame, with a wish that
the temper had been controlled.
Friends are separated by a bad temper, trouble is caused by it, and the pain is given to others as well as self.
That pain too often lasts for days,
even years—sometimes for life. An outburst of temper is like the bursting of a steam boiler; it is impossible
to tell beforehand what will be the result. The evil done may never be remedied. Starve your temper. It is not worth keeping alive. Let it die.—Unknown.

Do Tell.

Robbers broke into the court house
at Washington, Pa., and looted desks,
files and cabinets and left a trail of wreckage behind. Many pieces of handsome mahogany furniture were ruined. A large quantity of stamps
and a small amount of money were secured. Doubtless if Ernie Acheson hadn't been defeated for congress
over there this wouldn't have happened. Acheson kept a close watch
over the court house and it wasn't robbed during his reign—at least not
in this rough and uncouth way.—

New Use For Motor Boats.

Low water conditions has developed
a new use for gasoline motor boats,
two of which are now profitably employed in the freight traffic out of Wheeling. The launches are used in towing a light barge and are said to be handling a fair tonnage of freight.
The Louise, a double-decked motor boat towing a barge, is operating between Wheeling and Parkersburg in place of the regular packet, Bessie Smith, which was forced to tie up on account of low water. The gasoline launch Jiarrett, with barge, has been in successful operation between Wheeling and Clarington for the past 10 days.

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works
steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times
the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day
soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a
tidy interest the sum soon grows
to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure
up how much more than a living
you are making now, and place
the difference in this bank.

Give Fish For Answers.
Here is a competition with fish to form the answers:
What fish belongs to millions? Goldfish.
What fish should shine among its fellows? Sunfish.
What fish is noted for its graceful motions? Skate.
What fish would win in a wrestling match? Mussel.
What fish carries a weapon? Swordfish.
What fish would be of service in a lumber yard? Sawfish.
What fish has the name of a Kipling character? Shark.
What fish has the name of a Dickens character? Cuttle.
What fish is given to melancholy? Bluefish.
What fish is one pitch of a slugger's voice? Bass.
What fish is notoriously fat? Flounder.
What fish does a pilot dread? Rock bass.
What fish is a whole world in itself? Globe.
What fish is not honest? Shark.
What fish could serve in the navy? Torpedo fish.
What fish is fault finding? Carp.
What fish does not need to swim? Flying fish.

Signaling Noon.
Most boys and girls know perhaps that the hour of noon is signaled every day to every part of the country by telegraph from the naval observatory at Washington. The custom originated, it is believed, at the Greenwich observatory in England, but our system is an improvement on theirs, says the Chicago News. At Greenwich a signal is sent out at noon, but at Washington a series of signals is used, beginning five minutes before noon. During these five minutes every tick of the observatory clock is electrically transmitted, except the twenty-ninth second of each minute, the last five seconds of the first four minutes and the last ten seconds of the fifth minute. After this final break of ten seconds the exact noon signal is given. The object of the series of signals is not only to indicate more clearly the instant of noon, but to enable the men at the various stations to regulate their clocks.

Diamonds Burn Like Coal.
The jeweler at closing time was putting his diamonds in a huge safe. "But why do you bother to do that when two watchmen walk the shop all night long?"
"On account of fire," the jeweler replied. "Diamonds are nothing but coal—carbon—they burn beautifully. Their hardness makes us think them indestructible, but as a matter of fact, a fire of diamonds would be the briskest, prettiest thing in the world."
"Put a handful of diamonds on a plate and set a light to them. They will burn with a hard, gemlike flame till nothing is left. There will be no smoke, no soot, and at the end the plate will be as clean as though just washed—not the slightest particle even of ash will remain."

National Flowers.
The fleur-de-lis is the emblem of gay France.
The violet is the national flower of Athens.
The sugar maple is the national emblem of Canada.
The shamrock is emblematic of the Emerald Isle.
The linden is the national emblem of Prussia.
England's national flower is the rose. Italy's emblem is the lily. Germany's emblem is the cornflower.
The leek is the emblem of Wales, and the thistle of Scotland.
The United States has no national flower.

Birthdays—A Game.
A lovely game played on the same plan as the donkey game is birthdays. Tack a large calendar on the wall or an improvised one containing thirty-one squares, from one to thirty-one in regular order. Provide each guest with a slip of muslin or paper bearing the date of his birth. The game is to walk blindfolded to the calendar and pin your paper to it. The one pinning his date nearest to the same date on the calendar wins the prize. For instance, if your birthday is the 30th of April you should try to pin the paper as near as possible to the 30 on the calendar.

Do You Know Who Was—
"Poor Richard?"—Benjamin Franklin.
The "Sage of Greystone?"—Samuel Tilden.
The "Sage of Monticello?"—Thomas Jefferson.
The "Hero of the Towpath?"—James A. Garfield.
"Unconditional Surrender?"—U. S. Grant.
"Stonewall?"—Thomas J. Jackson.
"Little David?"—John Randolph.
The "Gray Eyed Man of Destiny?"—General William Walker.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Some Easy Riddles.
What gave the window pane (pain)? To see the curtain hung.
What bell cannot be rung. A dumb-bell.
What was the most curious thing ever found in Africa? A living stone (Livingstone).

His Number.
Johnny—Say, dad, if I ate a chop and you ordered one and ate it, what would your phone number be?
Pa—Give it up, son.
Johnny—It would be 246.

TWO LOVES.

May Loring was a winsome brunette of eighteen when she taught in the mountain village of Greendale.
Harry Hayford was a young man of untarnished reputation. His honest blue eyes excited envy in the bosom of many a lass, and even May Loring's proud heart thrilled with admiration when his rich baritone filled the church as he led the village choir.
But May had other ideals. She longed to be a real heroine in one of life's wild dramas. She cared for Harry more than she dared admit, but tried to assure herself that she was only flirting with him. Harry, on the other hand, became deeply in love. As they strolled in the moonlight or rode through the shady woods on Sunday afternoons he talked incessantly of happy days to come. May allowed him to talk as he would. She thought it romantic to hear him thus converse.

Summer waned. Soon came the time for May to return to her home. Harry at length grew disturbed. May had hardly indicated that she cared for him, and of late he had sometimes thought her cold. What could she mean? He must know, for soon they must separate, and, oh, would they part forever? By chance they did not meet until the day prior to May's departure. May's cheerful loveliness soon dispelled Harry's apprehensions, and they wandered through the wild-wood to have their farewell talk. Coming to a shady dell, May sat down upon a knoll, while Harry reclined at her feet.

For the moment May's heart somewhat relented when she realized how infatuated Harry had become. Her lips trembled, and her eyes drooped. Harry of course noticed the change. He interpreted it to mean more than it did and passionately exclaimed:

"May, oh, May, you care for me! Tell me before we part that you love me; that you'll be mine!"

May's countenance changed, and there was silence. Did he guess that in her mind was that handsome stranger she had met in vacation? Whatever were his thoughts, he remained silent. Like a statue he now stood, gazing upon her downcast face.

May's cheek was pallid, but her voice was cold and decisive as at length she replied:

"Your wishes are exorbitant indeed. I never can love you."

Again a moment he stood proudly and then turned aside, saying:

"Then, Miss Loring, we must part."

She saw him disappear among the trees. The following day they both left the village, she for her village home, he for another clime.

Mr. Sidney, with whom May had become enamored the vacation before, resumed his attentions as soon as May reached the village. With his easy manner, elegant address and gallant style he was May's ideal. Yet after all, there was something about him that she repulsed. Despite her efforts to dispel thoughts of Harry her imagination oftentimes turned to him. Now that he was gone she felt his loss. She often secretly longed to look into his mild eyes and then for the moment dislaid the restless demeanor of Mr. Sidney. But still the latter fascinated her, and she implicitly trusted him.

Thus a few months passed, and too soon Mr. Sidney was summoned, as he said, to his home. It was then that May learned that he had faked her; that all his charming pretenses had been false. Her tear stained eyes read the paragraphs where his marriage with another was announced.

Pain seldom comes singly. May was sorely calmed when a message came that cut her still more deeply. Harry Hayford, the report read, and it had every proof, had died in an explosion in a mine.

Poor May's last hope vanished. Thoughts of the past were painful, and to evade them she destroyed every reminiscence. Removing to another place, she took up the duties of preceptress.

Twelve years passed, bringing little change. May's laughing black eyes became serious, but they were gentle and tender. The children adored her. Her friends admired her and came to her for counsel and advice. Felicity apparently was hers.

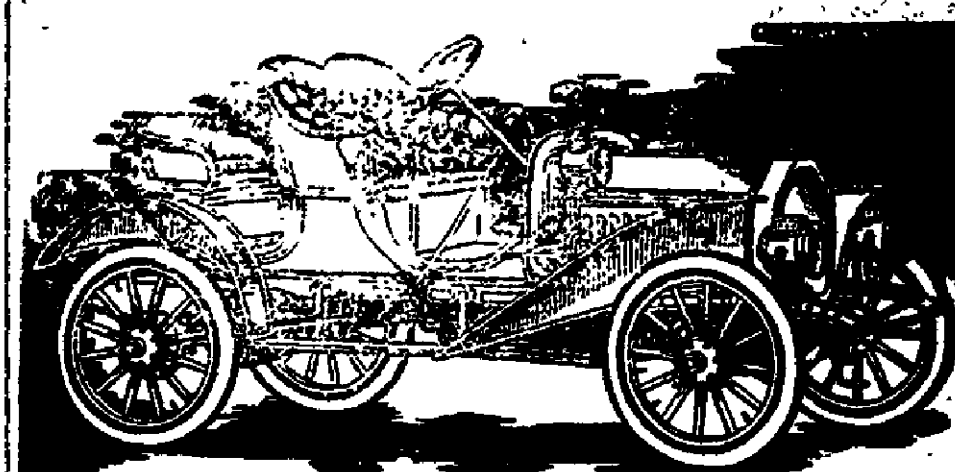

At last the illness of her mother recalled her to her native town. She entered it with aching heart. But, ah, she knew not fortune! It happened that one afternoon who was invited to the house of a friend. During a short interval that she was left alone she took up a case of photographs. As she looked at them her eyes fell on one that made her heart bound and flutter. Old memories were brought vividly back, and, without resisting the impulse, she pressed the photo again and again to her lips.

"May!"
She could not believe that she heard, and terror seized her. The voice so strangely familiar now seemed weird and unearthly.

Gaining courage, she looked up. Dazed beyond measure, she felt her brain confuse. Fainting, she fell into Harry Hayford's arms.

When she recovered of course there was an explanation. It was another Harry Hayford that had been killed. May, the schoolmistress, would be schoolteacher no more.

Good Ice Cream.
Good ice cream is good food. But it must be good and pure and clean. Good ice cream is delicious, wholesome and nourishing. It has no aftertaste to make people repent of eating it. It is strengthening to a giant and is helpful to the sick and dying so long as any food can be taken. Its origin seems to be obscure, but if it could be traced to any one person he would deserve a monument.

It will be in charge of Harry Jensen, who is at present umpiring in the Pawva league.

Uncle Sam may have been a trifle short of pocket money to give his children for a few months, and none will deny that he was, but that fact did not signify that the old gentleman was losing his grip on business. He is still well to the front among the world's traders in his ability to make the balance show up on the right side of the ledger. In July the United States sold $167,930,000 more than it bought. In July, 1907, the excess of exports was only $3,927,000 and in 1906 it was $8,100,000. But both the amount of exports and imports fell this year, although the latter decreased much more rapidly. Exports declined something over $250,000,000, which was less than 2 per cent. But 10 imports fell off more than $38,000,000 or over 30 per cent. Thus even in the period of stagnation this country continued to be a great producing nation.

Hard Times "Soshul"

In keeping with conditions a "Hard Times Soshul" will be held by the young people in the basement of the United Brethren church at Vesta Monday evening, August 31. It will not cost anything to get into the entertainment, it's the getting out that will bring revenue to the church fund. A system of fines will be imposed for what the guests do and what they don't do. None of them are burdensome, however, and the penalties promise a lot of fun. Refreshments and music are features, and all who attend will certainly get value received for whatever they may be fined or expend.

CORNER STONE LAYING OF LUTHERAN CHURCH

New Structure On Washington Avenue To Be Beautiful One.

REV. LEECH PRESENT

Tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon at 3 o'clock the impressive services in the laying of the corner stone of the Christ Lutheran church of this city will take place. This congregation is not yet seven years old, and have worshiped in a hall on the third floor of the Savings and Trust company, during all that time, but so rapid has been their growth and development that they have been warranted in a building what promises to be one of the most substantial and best church buildings of our community.

The church is to be Gothic in architecture, fashioned after the "old cathedral" style, having the first floor for Sunday school purposes, with entrance off Washington avenue. The auditorium will be on the second floor, having the entrance on Sixth street. The structure is to be built entirely of stone taken from the Bowman Quarry north of Charleroi, just six squares from the site of the church. The cut stone trimmings are of Indiana Limestone, quarried at Bloomington, Indiana. Charles W. Bolton and son of Philadelphia, Pa., are the architects, and the Smith Construction company of Morgantown, W. Va., are the contractors.

This congregation was organized Sept. 22, 1901, with 31 charter members; they have grown until now they number about 150 members. Less than a year ago a special effort was made in the securing of subscriptions for the erection of a new church, which resulted in a subscription list of $14,000.

The past year, notwithstanding financial stringency and self-sacrifice, have contributed over $1,000 toward the building fund.

The afternoon's service works the laying of the foundations of the beautiful structure, of which the citizens of our city will feel proud. The former pastor, Rev. M. Leech of Dubuque, Iowa, is to be present and will have a prominent part in the services. He will preach the morning services in the church tomorrow at 11 o'clock. Rev. G. M. Heindel of Trinity Lutheran church of Beechview, Pittsburgh, will deliver the principal address of the afternoon.

Ministers from out-of-town churches and the local pastors will be present and take an active part in the services.

Following is the order of service for tomorrow:

Program.
Anthems by Choir—"God Rest Ye Merry, Men."
Invocation—Gloria Patri.
Scripture Lesson.
Hymn—"Holy, Holy, Holy."
Prayer.
Hymn—"How Firm a Foundation."
Sermon by Rev. G. M. Heindel.
D. D., Beechview, Pittsburgh.
Anthem—"I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."
Greetings by Rev. H. M. Leech, of Dubuque, Iowa, and others.
Offering.
Announcement of contents of box in corner stone.
Laying of Stone.
Doxology.
Benediction.

Charleroi Wins From Grafton In The Tenth

By going an extra inning the Cherubs took yesterday's game from the Grafters by one run. Although taking a good lead at the opening of the game it was finally overcome. Mack was the heaver for the locals and held Grafton to seven hits. Cornelius for the visitors was touched up for twelve safe ones but by fast fielding the score was held down.

In the first inning Charleroi made two runs on hits by Cosgrove, Dunn and Dailey. But four hits were secured off Cornelius during the next six innings but in the eighth a single by Dunn and one for three sacks by Dailey sent a run over the pan. Mack allowed but two hits until the seventh inning. In this round two singles and an error by Toohy allowed one run and in the next round three hits were secured by Grafton which netted them two runs and tied up the game. Neither side could cross the gum in the ninth inning and Grafton could not cross in their half of the tenth. When George Dailey walked and Toohy laid one down, which put Dailey on second Heinz came to the rescue and by pounding one out for a single sent Dailey over with the winning run. Score:

FIRE AT SHIRE OAKS YESTERDAY

Fire at Shire Oaks yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, destroyed three dwelling houses owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad. All the houses were occupied, and the people had great difficulty in getting their household goods out and saving them. The loss is total, and will amount to about $5,000. The fire is said to have originated from oil used to start a blaze, communicating to the timber's from the chimney. The houses were located below the railroad, and some difficulty was experienced in looking after the tippie and stable of the Pittsburgh Coal company at that point.

Bench Warrant Issued For Pittsburg Detective For Jury Fixing.

ARGUMENTS TO JURY

Washington, Pa., Aug. 28.—(Special to Mail.) The case of the commonwealth against W. L. Lenhart of Brownsville went to the jury at 12:20 o'clock. The jury adjourned at 1 o'clock for lunch without having reached any decision. They will convene again at 2 o'clock. It is thought that they will either find the man guilty of conspiracy or disagree.

The arguments to the jury were made yesterday afternoon after the testimony for both the commonwealth and the defense were made. A bench warrant was issued by the court yesterday for the arrest of W. J. Tanne, a Pittsburg detective, on a charge of attempting to fix the jury.

"MERRY WIDOW" HOUSE BURNED TO GROUND

Alleged Disorderly Resort Of Fallowfield Township Suffers.

LOSS IS ABOUT $1,200

What is known as the "Merry Widow Farm" a short distance to the south of Charleroi, in a house belonging to John Nelson, of Fallowfield township. The loss will be about $1,200, the building being burned to the ground. The fire is said to have started at about 4 o'clock this morning from an explosion in the gasoline stove. Nothing could be done to check the flames after they were discovered. There were four women in the house at the time, and they were awakened by the smell of smoke permeating through the rooms. They telephoned to Charleroi, but no alarm was sent in for the reason that the flames had already gained such headway that by the time hose connections could be made to the plug at Second street, the fire would have entirely destroyed the building, and the work would be useless.

The house is one that is said to have been used by disorderly purposes. Few of the belongings of the ladies were saved from the flames and the loss to them is considerable.

DOUGLAS WILL START TERM ON MONDAY

On Tuesday morning, September 1st, the Douglass Business college will open for the fall and winter term, with a full enrollment of pupils. The rooms have been renovated throughout and now produce a much more beautiful appearance. A number of new typewriters have been added and still more will be put in. It is expected that the present season will be as successful if not more so than the last year.

There will be some change in the corps of instructors this year, although the superintendency will not change, Prof. M. Adams still having charge of the school. Prof. Smith, who last year was connected with the commercial department has returned from his vacation and will take up his duties. The change, however, will be in the shorthand department. Prof. Dorsey, the last year's incumbent having resigned. His successor will be Prof. Zella Franks, of Ohio, who is a capable teacher of shorthand and stenography. Several pupils will be sent from the high schools this year, and a large number of out of town students are enrolled.

CROWDS ATTRACTED BY THE OPENING

The store of McDermott's Creamery Produce Co., has assumed a festive appearance today, but nevertheless a business like bustle pervades. From two o'clock until five this afternoon, souvenirs are to be given ladies who visit them, and from 7 to 10 o'clock this evening as well. Crowds are filling the store this afternoon.

MR. ROSENBLUM BACK HOME FROM SOMERSET

Does Not Care To Discuss Tragedy Of His Father.

INVESTIGATIONS MADE

Louis Rosenbloom, after being absent from the city for several days, returned home last night. He states that he knows very little of the affair and will not converse of the matter to much extent. He does not state whether he suspects his brother Alexander of the murder or not, and will not answer questions.

After giving bail for their appearance at the December term of court Mrs. Bonnie Rosenbloom and Miss Eva Rosenbloom, widow and daughter respectively of the murdered man, left yesterday for Baltimore, from where they were brought to Somerset after breaking down and confessing that Alexander had told them he killed his father. Mrs. Rosenbloom and Eva were accompanied by William Rosenbloom of Piedmont, W. Va.

William will go to Camden to further identify the body supposed to be his father's. In addition, he will try to locate his brother, Alexander. William Rosenbloom is a detective with several year's experience. In 1898 he captured Milton Sheets, a murder suspect, who escaped from the Somerset jail.

MONONGAHELA BODY TO HOLD CAMPMEETING

The A. M. E. church, of Monongahela, will begin its camp meeting at the Bentleyville grove this evening and will continue until the 6th of September. The Rev. Morris and his co-laborers are making arrangements for a glorious meeting and a great time is expected. The boarding tent, or hotel, is in the hands of the same parties that ran it during the meetings which just closed, hence, plenty to eat and the best of accommodations are assured. It was impossible for the promoters of the meeting to secure a special train.

Monday morning will witness the opening of August court in Westmoreland county. Criminal cases will be heard during the first two weeks, to be followed by three weeks of civil court. This means a five-week session. In the common pleas court actions to the number of 115 are listed for trial, and while many of these cases will be continued the whole of the three weeks will be necessary to hear and determine the merits of the cases ready for trial and the courts will be busily engaged in their position.

What the Clock Hid.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Aug. 28.—At a masked ball at Jefferson Park last night Miss Marie Hembrick canceled part of the evening with a clock covering her costume, but when a "Paul Jones" was started she cast the clock aside and revealed a dainty pink silk Directoire gown, which in turn disclosed the most—well, everybody stopped.

Men were enthusiastic. Women left the floor and pretended to look out of windows. Miss Hembrick and her partner continued the dance until Park Manager John Oates, of Charleroi told the couple to stop. So quickly did the news spread that the park was thronged in a few minutes.

Where Explosives are Sold

The fire chief in a city or borough where there are explosives sold by numerous dealers should be furnished a list of each of the stores handling them, and the men under him should have a knowledge of such places. This is done in quite a number of cities and boroughs, but it is understood that the Charleroi volunteer firemen have scant idea as to where the explosives in this place are sold, or stored, and if a fire should occur in a room which contained powder or other high explosive, the chances are that some of the brave defenders of property and home of this place would encroach too near and if the stuff exploded be sent into eternity in a twinkling. This is a danger which has been suggested by the firemen themselves and which will in the near future no doubt be provided for by laws governing the report of dealers in explosives to the proper officials, and copies of the list furnished the firemen with which to familiarize themselves.

Tracks Kept Clean.

It may not be generally known, but it is a fact that the Pennsylvania Railroad company's tracks on the Monongahela Division are cleaner now from refuse of various kinds, paper, etc., than for years. The police department of the division are making the matter a specialty and a large number of arrests have been made. While many persons who have been in the habit of dumping refuse on the railroad upon notification by the officers have cleaned up the waste, and stopped the practice of making the railroad property their dumping ground.

Treasury Department officials have recommended to the Senate Committee on Finance that in revising the tariff citizens returning from abroad be permitted to bring $200 worth of personal baggage instead of $100 as now allowed by law. This would appeal to the traveler. But it does not go to the heart of the tariff question, which hinges on the levying of a Government tax in order to enable special interests to raise their own prices out of all reason.

The latest is a wall from a man confined in the county jail, to the Washington Observer, because such elevated characters as thieves and robbers, and those who are confined for various other small (?) offenses of a similar nature, are compelled to associate with such low down people as beer agents.

Sounds like another of the Observer's vain attempts to gain a place in the humorist's world.

The average boy is willing to bet that the past three months are not nearly one-fourth of a year. The coming nine months will seem a good bit more than three times as long any way.

Free Music Lessons

Music lessons so simple that a child of ordinary education should be able to learn to play the piano will be published in the Sunday issue of the Pittsburgh Dispatch, commencing September 13. This is a late treat for readers of The Dispatch and is a feature that will be greatly appreciated. Just think of it, $12 worth of music lessons free! They will appeal to old and young alike those who can play as well as persons who cannot. Music teachers will find many valuable suggestions. Parents whose children are not old enough to learn to play now should keep the lessons for them. Everyone should save the lessons. They are good at any time. If you are not a reader of The Sunday Dispatch subscribe at once and get the best paper published. The music lessons will be published every Sunday until the series is completed, commencing September 13. Don't miss them.

Affinities

The epidemic of affinity notions which have been hatched since the eccentric affair of Ferdinand Earle and Julia Kuttner only goes to show what loose ideas some people hold regarding marriage vows.

Fascination is the seed which germinate the affinity idea, and it just needs a little obstacle, such as one of the "soul-mates" being married and the fascination will grow to monstrous proportion. It seems to be the nature of man to want most what he can't have. So he fools himself into the idea that he who also pines for a mate in his indispensable affinity.

He breaks his neck, to say nothing of his vows, to get a divorce from the wife whom he once so convincingly believed was his affinity, and if the court permits he and his newest heart's desire have the soul-mate idea tied into a matrimonial knot.

But more often than not the fascination wears off with possession and like the case of Earle the mate is beaten because she has not proven the all-sufficing source of bliss he had contemplated. While there have been rare cases known to history such as Wagner and the daughter of Liszt, where soul-mating might be a fact, the man and woman who keep their emotions in the balance and who respect the vows they have made are an evidence for greater character than they who yield to ungoverned sires.

Have Been Swindled

It is said that a number of women of Greensburg have been recently swindled by a man claiming to be the agent for "The Delineator," the popular fashion journal. He offered 22 pieces of china as a premium with the subscription and took part pay on the subscription at once. The man, magazine and china never showed up and the publishers are looking forward for their arrest. Every town has reliable magazine dealers or agents who should be patronized and then there is no danger of a swindle.

CANONSBURG WOMAN SUES THE RAILROAD

Washington, Pa., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Nola Malone, of Washington, has entered suit against the Washington and Canonsburg Street Railway company to recover $20,000 damages for the death of her husband, William W. Malone, who was killed by a car on West Chestnut street on January 1, 1908. Malone was employed as a presser at Hazel No. 2 glass factory. In the statement filed the accident is attributed to the negligence of the company in not equipping its cars with proper brakes. It is also alleged that no warning was given the deceased, and that the car was running at an excessive rate of speed. The plaintiff states that she has suffered the loss of a husband and the two children, and is constantly earning and in receipt of good wages supporting and providing for his family and affording them a comfortable livelihood and maintenance.

Alex. Wargo, indicted by the grand jury for the present term of court on the charge of involuntary manslaughter, will enter a plea of not guilty this morning to that charge and receive his sentence. He was in court last evening to make his plea but court did not adjourn until almost 5 o'clock and nothing was done. The defendant is represented by Attorney J. M. Patterson.

Wargo is one of those implicated in the trouble that occurred at the home of the Shumakers at Richhill some months ago, which resulted in the death of Alex. Shumaker.

John Shumaker, a brother of the dead man, was tried at the May term of court and found not guilty of the murder of his brother. Wargo's testimony at that trial resulted in his arrest and indictment. During the trial of John Shumaker, Wargo admitted that he took part in the stabbing affray and that he had stabbed Alex. Shumaker three times. The penalty for involuntary manslaughter is severe.

Railroad Expenditures.

Next to the agricultural interest, the railway interest, in point of receipts and disbursements, and the number of families directly, and indirectly dependent upon it, is the most important interest in the country. The history of the country will show that the years of general prosperity, when labor was fully employed, when trade touched high-water mark, and when new records were made in every line of business, were the years when railway construction was most active. If the prosperity of the last ten years could be closely analyzed, and the purchases of iron and steel and cement and timber products and other supplies for railways could be calculated, and the disbursements to labor upon improvements and extensions could be known, and their expenditures for cars and locomotives similarly distributed, it would be seen that these in the aggregate were a very large factor in the country's activities. These improvements have been almost entirely stopped. Their curtailment had begun before the panic; inability to float securities and loss of earnings afterward made this policy imperative. In view of the far-reaching influence of such expenditures, contends a writer on financial topics, it is not too much to say that if the railways today were spending as much money as they have spent on an average during the last three years, business conditions the country over would be practically normal.

GOES LONG DISTANCE TO GET MARRIED

John Bissiere, a well known man of Monessen has gone to France for a visit, but it has come out that when he returns he will bring with him a bride. Mr. Bissiere was in France a short time ago and met the lady of his choice, and the two became engaged, whence the present trip for the marriage.

Iron Jawed Man Their Trouble.

When Eleanor M. Cummings and her mother, Emma L. Cummings, were called for sentence before Judge Cohen of Pittsburgh, they said all their trouble was due to Christ Fiedler, a man of the name of "Iron Jawed Man." They state he came to their Southside home and told he intended to enter business in Washington, Pa., where they were induced to go. There they had a disagreement. Fiedler alleged they took away some of his wearing apparel and sold him a bottle of beer while he was boarding with them. Judge Cohen suspended sentence. 116

SEVERAL IMPORTANT SALES IN GREENE

Several important sales of Greene county coal have been made recently, all of which was purchased by J. V. Thompson.

A deal has been closed and the first payment made for a five-sixths interest in the Bell farm one mile west of Jefferson, in Greene county. These interests were owned by J. B. Rinehart, Mrs. J. P. Rinehart and Miss Elizabeth Bell of Waynesburg. While the price is not made public it is understood to be $400 per acre, for the coal and surface. A sixth interest is still retained in the farm by Mrs. Wm. Denny of Washington. The farm contains 10 1-4 acres.

The Hickman farm, which lies just west of the Bell farm, has also been sold at $400 per acre. for coal and surface. The farm contained 66 3-4 acres and was owned by H. C. Sayers, Sr. H. C. Sayers, Jr., of Waynesburg, and Arch Hickman. Both sales were negotiated by J. B. Rinehart.

A deed has just been filed by which E. L. Denny of Waynesburg, conveys 48 1-4 acres of coal in Perry township near Gump postoffice, to Mr. Thompson the consideration being $7,995 50. This is about $174 per acre.

A deed has also been filed dated August 1, by which T. S. Lacey et al., of Uniontown, convey 342 acres in Washington township to Mr. Thompson for a consideration of $48,955.75, which is $260 per acre.

Beer Keg Falls On Mans Head When He Trips

Mike Romick, a foreigner of Tenth street sustained a severe injury this morning by a beer keg which he was carrying home for his Saturday evening off, falling on his head when he tripped on the curb at the corner of Third street and McKean avenue. The man was rendered unconscious and was picked up. Dr. McKay called and the wounds dressed. The man was taken to his home.

Make Trips to Chartiers Valley.

In connection with the present agitation about the purity of the water supply in Pittsburgh and surrounding boroughs there was considerable comment yesterday over the discovery that eight engineers in the employ of the State Department of Health have been working quietly on a mysterious mission.

State engineers have made a number of trips to Morgantown, where a typhoid epidemic is raging, and also to points along the Chartiers Valley. Several trips have been made to the filtration plant at Aspinwall, as well. The visitors are under the direct orders of State Commissioner Dixon, and are pledged to secrecy as to the nature of their work. The party is in charge of J. A. Wheelock, assistant engineer, and all are stopping at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Director Shepherd, while surprised at the presence of the party in Pittsburgh at this time, said he did not believe they were there to investigate any projects. I then questioned it was thought likely the delegation was looking into the problem of sewage disposal in Allegheny County, and this theory was strengthened by the presence of one member of the delegation at the Courthouse, mapping many of the more important streams of the county which are now badly polluted.

Among the Exchanges

It is stated by fire insurance authorities that an average of 60 cents out of every $100 of premium received is used to pay insured fire loss. With these figures as a basis it will be possible, by reducing fire waste for the public, to save on an average at once all uninsured value now burned and in time 1-2-3 of all insured values now burned.

A word now about the character of fire loss telling wherein it differs from any of the other compared items.

Substantially all of these represent merely transfers of value; whereas, fire loss is an absolute destruction of wealth—the product of man's thought, toil and self-denial. Who can doubt the propriety and wisdom of reducing as far as possible the approximately proportionate life loss which accompanies it? It may be asked at this point whether this waste is unreasonably large, and capable of being reduced. A comparison with other countries or like civilization will supply a fair test. In round figures the per capita fire loss in the United States during the past year has been $3.00 as against $.33 in the principal European countries, including England, France, Germany and Italy, or nine times more fire waste and interruption of business (which insurance cannot cover in the United States than in western Europe. There are certain conditions in these countries that operate to effect a lower fire loss than would reasonably be possible here, viz.: the larger use of non-combustible materials, due to the high cost of wood, and better building codes in letter and practice; the height and small areas employed in their city construction; and finally, the intangible influence of their older civilization, which makes these people more careful of small savings in all their affairs and generally more cautious than we have yet become. Allowing for these fundamental differences between the countries compared it is yet apparent that the nine times larger fire loss in the United States than the principal western European countries, is outrageously and criminally greater than it should be; and this condition must arise largely from the ignorance and carelessness of this country's people.—American Industries.

What to do With a Bad Temper.

Starve it. Give it nothing to feed on. When something tempts you to grow angry, do not yield to the temptation. It may for a minute or two be difficult to control yourself, but try it. Force yourself to do nothing, to say nothing, and the rising temper will be obliged to go down because it has nothing to hold it up. The person who can and does control the tongue, hard, heart, face of great provocation, is a hero. The world may not hold him or her as such, but God does. The Bible says that he that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city.

What is gained by yielding to temper? For a moment there is a feeling of relief, but soon comes a sense of sorrow and shame with a wish that the temper had been controlled. Friends are separated by a bad temper, trouble is caused by it, and the pain is given to others as well as self. That pain too often lasts for days, even years—sometimes for life. An outburst of temper is like the bursting of a steam boiler, it is impossible to tell beforehand what will be the result. The evil done may never be remedied. Starve your temper. It is not worth keeping alive. Let it die.—Unknown.

Do Tell.

Robbers broke into the court house at Washington, Pa., and looted desks, files and cabinets and left a trail of wreckage behind. Many pieces of handsome mahogany furniture were ruined. A large quantity of stamps and a small amount of money were secured. Doubtless if Ernie Acheson hadn't been defeated for congress over there this wouldn't have happened. Acheson kept a close watch over the court house and it wasn't robbed during his reign—at least not in this rough and uncouth way.—Scottdale Observer.

New Use For Motor Boats.

Low water conditions has developed a new use for gasoline motor boats, two of which are now profitably employed in the freight traffic out of Wheeling. The launches are used in towing a light barge and are said to be handling a fair tonnage of freight. The Louise, a double-decked motor boat towing a barge, is operating between Wheeling and Parkersburg in place of the regular packet, Bessie Smith, which was forced to stop on account of low water. The gasoline launch Jarratt, with barge, has been in successful operation between Wheeling and Clarksburg for the past 10 days.

OVERTAXED
Hundreds of Charleroi Readers Know What It Means

The kidneys are overtaxed; They have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—Backache, indigestion, headache, Early symptoms of kidney ailments—Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

Miss Nora Harty living at 25 North Franklin St., Washington, Pa., says: "My father has been subject to attacks of kidney disease for some years, and nothing ever helped him except Doan's Kidney Pills. He never fails to give them and whenever he gets backache coming on, or any of the other symptoms of kidney ailments, he always gets relief by the use of this remedy. I recommend it."

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. interest paid in savings department.

Give Fish For Answers.
Here is a competition with fish to form the answers:
What fish should belong to millionaires? Goldfish.
What fish should shine among its fellows? Sunfish.
What fish is noted for its graceful motions? Skate.
What fish would win in a wrestling match? Mussel.
What fish carries a weapon? Swordfish.
What fish would be of service in a lumber yard? Sawfish.
What fish has the name of a Kipling character? Shark.
What fish has the name of a Dickens character? Cuttle.
What fish is given to melancholy? Bluefish.
What fish is one pitch of a singer's voice? Bass.
What fish is notoriously fat? Flounder.
What fish does a pilot dream? Rock bass.
What fish is a whole world in itself? Globe.
What fish is not honest? Shark.
What fish could serve in the navy? Flying fish.
What fish is fault finding? Carp.
What fish does not need to swim? Flying fish.

Signaling Noon.

Most boys and girls know perhaps that the hour of noon is signaled every day to every part of the country by telegraph from the naval observatory at Washington. The custom originated, it is believed, at the Greenwich observatory in England, but our system is an improvement on theirs, says the Chicago News. At Greenwich a signal is sent out at noon, but at Washington a series of signals is used, beginning five minutes before noon. During these five minutes every tick of the observatory clock is electrically transmitted, except the twenty-ninth second of each minute, the last five seconds of the first four minutes and the last ten seconds of the fifth minute. After this final break of ten seconds the exact noon signal is given. The object of the series of signals is not only to indicate more clearly the instant of noon, but to enable the men at the various stations to regulate their clocks.

Diamonds Burn Like Coal.

The jeweler at closing time was putting his diamonds in a safe.
"But why do you bother to do that when two watchmen walk the shop all night long?"
"On account of fire," the jeweler replied. "Diamonds are nothing but coal-carbon—they burn beautifully. Their hardness makes us think them indestructible, but as a matter of fact, a fire of diamonds would be the briskest, prettiest thing in the world."
"Put a handful of diamonds on a plate and set a light to them. They will burn with a hard, gemlike flame till nothing is left. There will be no smoke, no soot, and at the end the plate will be as clean as though just washed—not the slightest particle even of ash will remain."

National Flowers.

The fleur-de-lis is the emblem of gay France.
The violet is the national flower of Athens.
The sugar maple is the national emblem of Canada.
The shamrock is emblematic of the Emerald Isle.
The linden is the national emblem of Prussia.
England's national flower is the rose. Italy's emblem is the lily.
Germany's emblem is the cornflower.
The leek is the emblem of Wales, and the thistle of Scotland.
The United States has no national flower.

Birthdays—A Game.

A lovely game played on the same plan as the dunker game is birthdays. Tack a large calendar on the wall or an improvised one containing thirty-one squares, from one to thirty-one in regular order. Provide each guest with a slip of muslin or paper bearing the date of his birth. The game is to walk blindfolded to the calendar and pin your paper to it. The one pinning his date nearest to the same date on the calendar wins the prize. For instance, if your birthday is the 30th of April you should try to pin the paper as near as possible to the 30 on the calendar.

TWO LOVES.

May Loring was a winsome brunette of eighteen when she taught in the mountain village of Greendale.

Harry Hayford was a young man of untarnished reputation. His honest blue eyes excited envy in the bosom of many a lass, and even May Loring's proud heart thrilled with admiration when his rich baritone filled the church as he led the village choir.

But May had other ideals. She longed to be a real heroine in one of life's wild dramas. She cared for Harry more than she dared admit, but tried to assure herself that she was only flirting with him. Harry, on the other hand, became deeply in love. As they sailed in the moonlight or rode through the shady woods on Sunday afternoons he talked incessantly of happy days to come. May allowed him to talk as he would. She thought it romantic to hear him thus converse.

Summer waned. Soon came the time for May to return to her home. Harry at length grew disturbed. May had hardly intimated that she cared for him, and of late he had sometimes thought her cold. What could she mean? He must know, for soon they must part forever. By chance they did not meet until the day prior to May's departure. May's cheerful loveliness soon dispelled Harry's apprehensions, and they wandered through the wilderness to have their farewell talk. Coming to a shady dell, May sat down upon a knoll, while Harry reclined at her feet.

For the moment May's heart somewhat relented when she realized how infatuated Harry had become. Her lips trembled, and her eyes drooped. Harry of course noticed the change. He interpreted it to mean more than it did and passionately exclaimed:

"May, oh, May, you care for me! Tell me before we part that you love me; that you'll be mine!"

May's countenance changed, and there was silence. Did he guess that in her mind was that handsome stranger she had met in vacation? Whatever were his thoughts, he remained silent. Like a statue he now stood, gazing upon her downcast face.

May's cheek was pallid, but her voice was cold and decisive as at length she replied:

"Your wishes are exorbitant indeed. I never can love you."

Again a moment he stood proudly and then turned aside, saying:

"Then, Miss Loring, we must part." She saw him disappear among the trees. The following day they both left the village, she for her village home, he for another clime.

Mr. Sidney, with whom May had become enamored the vacation before, resumed his attentions as soon as May reached the village. With his easy manner, elegant address and gainly style he was May's ideal. Yet, after all, there was something about him that she repulsed. Despite her efforts to dispel thoughts of Harry her imagination oftentimes turned to him. Now that he was gone she felt his loss. She often secretly longed to look into his mild eyes and then for the moment disdained the restless demeanor of Mr. Sidney. But still the latter fascinated her, and she implicitly trusted him.

Thus a few months passed, and too soon Mr. Sidney was summoned, as he said, to his home. It was then that May learned that he had felled her; that all his charming pretenses had been false. Her tear stained eyes read the paragraphs where his marriage with another was announced.

Pain seldom comes singly. May was scarcely calmed when a message came that cut her still more deeply. Harry Hayford, the report read, and it had every proof, had died in an explosion in a mine.

Poor May's last hope vanished. Thoughts of the past were painful, and to evade them she destroyed every reminiscence. Removing to another place, she took up the duties of preceptress.

Twelve years passed, bringing little change. May's laughing black eyes became serious, but they were gentle and tender. The children adored her. Her friends admired her and came to her for counsel and advice. Felicity apparently was hers.

At last the illness of her mother recalled her to her native town. She entered it with aching heart. But ah, she knew not fortune! It happened that one afternoon she was invited to the house of a friend. During a short interval that she was left alone she took up a case of photographs. As she looked at them her eyes fell on one that made her heart bound and flutter. Old memories were brought vividly back, and, without resisting the impulse, she pressed the photo again and again to her lips.

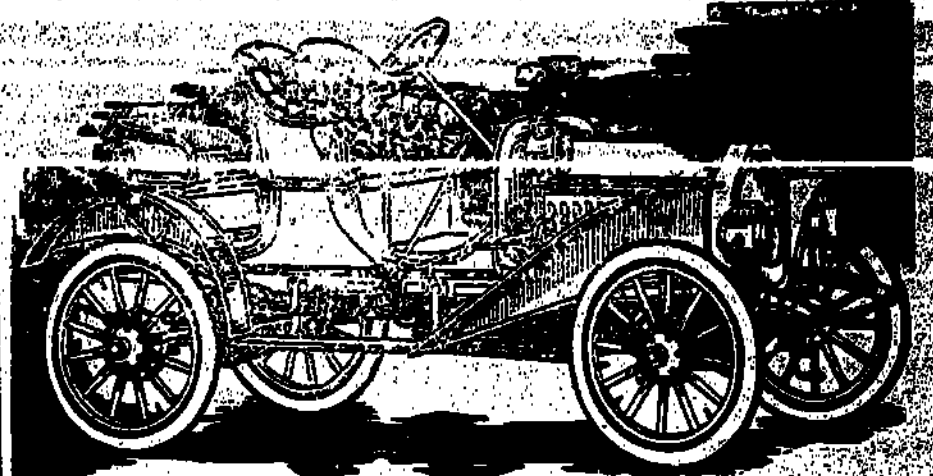

"May!"
She could not believe that she heard. And terror seized her. The voice so strangely familiar now seemed weird and unearthly.

Gaining courage, she looked up. Dazed beyond measure, she felt her brain confuse. Fainting, she fell into Harry Hayford's arms.

When she recovered of course there was an explanation. It was another Harry Hayford that had been killed. May, the schoolmistress, would be schoolteacher no more.

Good Ice Cream.

Good ice cream is good food. But it must be good and pure and clean. Good ice cream is delicious, wholesome and nourishing. It has no aftermath to make people repent of eating it. It is strengthening to a giant and is helpful to the sick and dying so long as our food can be taken. Its origin is in the Orient, but it could be traced to any one person or would be a secret.

Uncle Sam may have been a trifle short of pocket money to give his children for a few months, and none will deny that he was, but that fact did not signify that the old gentleman was losing his grip on business. He is still well to the front among the world's traders in his ability to make the balance show up on the right side of the ledger. In July the United States sold $167,830,000 more than it bought. In July, 1907, the excess of exports was only $3,927,030 and in 1906 it was $8,160,000. But both the amount of exports and imports fell this year, although the latter decreased much more rapidly. Exports declined something over $250,000,000, which was less than 2 per cent. But imports fell off more than $33,000,000 or over 30 per cent. Thus even in the period of stagnation this country continued to be a great producing nation.

Thus even in the period of stagnation this country continued to be a great producing nation.

Uncle Sam may have been a trifle short of pocket money to give his children for a few months, and none will deny that he was, but that fact did not signify that the old gentleman was losing his grip on business. He is still well to the front among the world's traders in his ability to make the balance show up on the right side of the ledger. In July the United States sold $167,830,000 more than it bought. In July, 1907, the excess of exports was only $3,927,030 and in 1906 it was $8,160,000. But both the amount of exports and imports fell this year, although the latter decreased much more rapidly. Exports declined something over $250,000,000, which was less than 2 per cent. But imports fell off more than $33,000,000 or over 30 per cent. Thus even in the period of stagnation this country continued to be a great producing nation.

Hard Times "Soshul"

In keeping with conditions a "Hard Times Soshul" will be held by the young people in the basement of the United Brethren church at Vesta Monday evening, August 31. It will not cost anything to get into the entertainment, it's the getting out that will bring revenue to the church fund.

A system of fines will be imposed for what the guests do and what they don't do. None of them are burdensome, however, and the penalties promise a lot of fun. Refreshments and music are features, and all who attend will certainly get value received for whatever they may be fined or expend.

DRINKING
NATIONS
FOREMOST

Independent Brewing Co.'s CHARLEROI BEER

is a great beer worthy of the favor of a progressive nation.

There's nothing but good in its sensible use. It is brewed from plump, sound barley grains, tempered in the winter-swept, sun-kissed barley fields of the great northwest, finest India rice and hops imported from Saaz-Bohemia.

CHARLEROI BEER

is rich in food extract and contains 3 1/2 per cent. alcohol, in solution, which is at once utilized in the creation of bodily energy.

Drink Charleroi Beer—it's far better than tea or coffee.
